FROM THE PODIUM THE RULES DO WORK

A Silicon Valley company that digitizes images said recently that an "administrative error" led to it paying eight workers flown in from Bangalore, India just $1.21 an hour to work 120-hours per week installing computers in the company's headquarters.

Electronics For Imaging paid the workers $40,000 in back wages and overtime and a $3,500 fine after the U.S. Department of Labor investigated the payroll violation based on an anonymous tip, that a department official made public. "These folks were not only not getting time-and-a-half when working extremely long hours, they weren't making the basic minimum wage," Michael Eastwood, assistant district director for the Labor Department's San Francisco division said.

In a statement, the company said it didn't realize it was illegal to pay workers temporarily in the United States the same wages they earn in their home countries. The $1.21 was equivalent to what the employees made in Indian rupees. "We unintentionally overlooked laws that require even foreign employees to be paid based on local U.S. standards," the company said in a statement.

Eastwood said the company also failed to keep documentation of the hours worked by the Indian employees. Though the workers were only owed $20,000 in back pay and overtime, regulators doubled that amount to $40,000 in the settlement to compensate for damages.. The company blamed an "administrative error" and said it took steps to ensure it would not occur again.

“TAPS” – DAY IS DONE

“TAPS” is a haunting 24 notes on the bugle that all of us who have been in the military know. We know at the end of the day, the Flag is lowered and “day is done”. However it’s more poignant meaning is at a funeral for a fallen comrade.

At our October meeting we were honored to have Tom Day founder of a group of volunteers “BUGLES ACROSS AMERICA”. In 2000, Congress passed a bill that guaranteed all veterans would receive a flag ceremony at their funeral with the playing of Taps. If a bugler was unavailable a CD could be used.

Tom, a former Marine found that unacceptable and contacted the Secretary of The Army with a plan. Tom Day founded this organization out of his home and now has 6000 volunteer buglers thru out the nation and overseas. His motto is “don’t steal a vet’s dignity”.

Tom explained that Taps was a result of Civil War General Butterfield’s request of his Bugler Oliver Wilcox Norton to make an arrangement from Napoleon Bonaparte’s Tattoo; he used the last 24 notes. That is Taps.

Bugles Across America has 6000 members of which 1000 are women; they do 40% of the military funerals. They have conducted over 200,000 funerals in the United States and overseas. They have sounded Taps at Normandy and Belgium, at Patton’s grave.

Tom Day has sounded Taps for the funerals of Paul Somerstorfer’s father and father-in-law. Paul was extremely grateful for this service.

This is provided free of charge to veteran’s families. The organization can be contacted at www.buglesacrossamerica.org. From there click on “Request a bugler” or “find a Bugler” links. Although service is free they rely on donations to operate, you can also find that on the website, along with much more information.

DECEMBER 10TH

This is the day for our annual Holiday Party at the Irish American Heritage Center. If you have not made your reservations as yet, you might want to do it now. See the enclosed sheet and mail to Richard Sipple ASAP.

We have had some nice outings since the last newsletter. We of course had the Benefit Fair down at the Union Hall. We always come home with little trinkets that we collected at the fair.

We had an enjoyable cruise and lunch at Navy Pier. It was a nice day and while on the boat they pointed out all the sights and buildings on shore. Immediately after, we had lunch at Capi's Restaurant for a delicious lunch. Since it was an off time of the year for tourists, we had plenty of time for our meal and conversation.

Our lunch and tour of the Langunitas Brewery was a surprise. We had a beer sampling and delicious lunch and then the tour started with more sampling. It was eye-boggling to see and hear how much beer is made each day at this brewery. We had two new members, Pete and Carol Jacimiec, with us on these two outings. You get to meet and socialize with the other members of the club by going to different events and going to the Drury Lane lunch and plays.
